FOREWORD

If you are intending to purchase any of the better class of peonies this year, do not fail to look at the following list and compare prices. In some instances they are below the prevailing wholesale prices and present a real opportunity to purchase true and guaranteed stock of the varieties listed at extremely reasonable prices.

The prices quoted are for two to three-eye commercial divisions. I do not quote on the one-eye divisions which seem so much in vogue at the present time. It must be understood, however, that there can be no uniform grade of peony roots and that divisions of the expensive novelties will be smaller than those of the standard varieties. In each instance, however, I expect to furnish satisfactory divisions considering the value and scarcity of the variety ordered.

Prices on the better class of peonies have been advancing steadily for the last few years. The Quarantine Act has stopped the indiscriminate importation of peonies so that it is now possible to secure them from foreign sources only in limited amounts and under special permit from the Federal Horticultural Bureau.

Foreign growers, too, have in many instances been advancing their prices. "Jeannott" was first sent out by Dessert at $2.50 per root. Dessert's price is now $10.00 for small two-eye divisions to which must be added 30% duty and the cost of transportation which makes a delivered price of approximately $15.00. "Francois Rousseau", another meritorious Dessert variety, was first marketed at $1.50 per root. His 1922 price on this variety was $4.00 per root with one plant only to each customer. "Philippe Revoire" five or six years ago was easily obtainable at $4.00 to $5.00 per root. One of the largest growers in the United States quoted this last fall at $18.00 per eye.

I have been collecting my peonies for the last eighteen years and I believe that the following list covers practically all the novelties and better class of peonies. Some of them it is practically impossible to secure elsewhere. Such varieties as "Mirabeau" (Lem.), "Laurence" (Lem.), have practically disappeared from the trade. Mr. Saunders, in his last issue of the Peony Bulletin, states that one rarely sees a bloom of "Mignon" (Lem.) Last spring I had approximately one hundred plants of this variety in bloom. A great many of the plants of this variety and of "Volcan" (Lem.) which I have purchased from other growers were in a diseased condition.

There seems to be considerable confusion in such varieties as "Miss Salway" and "Kelway's Queen" and a large number of the high priced Japanese novelties. I guarantee the correctness of these and all of the other varieties sent out by me. Mistakes do sometimes occur in digging and labeling plants and if this should happen I agree to replace the plant or to return the money paid for them.

Orders will be filed in consecutive number and filled in rotation and as the number of the high priced novelties is limited, it is advisable to order early.

Shipments will commence September 1st and continue through the fall months.

The prices herein are practically wholesale and will be available only to such whose orders amount to fifty dollars or more. A special discount of 5% on orders of $100 or more; 10% on orders of $200 or more.

Send for retail catalogue for quotations on single plants.

TERMS

In as much as this price list is being sent out so far in advance of the shipping season I will require a deposit of 15% on all orders with the balance in cash before September 1st, except to parties who satisfy me of their financial responsibility.

My own reference is the First National Bank of Wausau or reports of my financial responsibility can be secured from any of the commercial agencies.

O. L. RINGLE.
